

The Higher Education Academy

Sustainability and the Curriculum: Progress and Potential

10-11 July 2007

Ecoversity,
The Norcroft Centre,
School of Lifelong
Education and Learning, University of Bradford

www.heacademy.ac.uk/esd

Exploring the work of the HE Academy ESD Project, associated Subject Centres and networks

A warm invitation to beginners and more experienced colleagues working and planning to embed sustainability into teaching and learning in Higher Education.

Celebrate, disseminate and find out about the work of the Higher Education Academy's Education for Sustainable Development Project. Share your ideas, learn about the Project, network with other curriculum designers. Find out about:

- new approaches to curriculum innovation for sustainability
- success stories from HE institutions and HE Academy Subject Centres
- who is leading change towards sustainability and what they are doing
- joining new networks
- engaging with new challenges
- working with the Project team to shape emerging strategy

Submissions by 24th April 2007

See www.heacademy.ac.uk/esd for more details

Contact details for booking tel : 024 7657 5219

email: sustainability@heacademy.ac.uk

The ESD Project is supported by the HE Academy as a contribution to sustainable development initiatives within wider social and policy arenas across the UK. The ESD Project acts as a key agent for encouraging curriculum change and development.

